Which of these two plots shows the same dominant neural generator as the target example?

